Course Description: The course is set to train students to respond appropriately to different kinds of oral situations pertinent to daily life activities and relevant to local or global affairs. It provides opportunities for information and enjoyment through listening and speaking with the aid of multidimensional exercises and tasks. This course aims at making university students confident communicators and active listeners in order to grasp the required knowledge from their professors, fellow students, and modern electronic resources. In addition, as English has gained the status of Lingua Franca, proficiency in it increases the chances of success in every field of life. This is the philosophy behind including this course in the curricula of PYU program. The plan of this course is constructed around the central idea of improving the students' fluency and accuracy in spoken English and listening comprehension for the use in academic and social venues.
Course Objectives & Learning Outcomes: The main objectives of the course are to help students develop listening and speaking skills, to understand what they hear and speak with fluency, and to participate in oral group discussions, debates and presentations and present their ideas. The main learning outcomes for students enrolled in the course can be summarized in the following: This course aims to equip students with a comprehensive understanding of English sounds, enabling them to distinguish various types. The course emphasizes understanding spoken words and expressing opinions clearly. Students will develop proficient listening and speaking skills applicable across diverse scenarios. The curriculum encourages the analysis of everyday communication, fostering the recognition of main ideas, facts, and opinions. Additionally, the course emphasizes the utilization of technology for investigating issues and promotes self-learning, instilling a sense of responsibility in students for their educational journey.
